Influx

Web Developer – Jakarta, Bandung, dan Yogyakarta

Description

Influx is a high-growth startup that seeks to hire super smart web developers to do technical customer support, problem diagnosis, and resolution. The company is open to hiring both graduates and people with experience.

Influx is a people-powered business. We're building a company that looks for the overlap between the personal and career ambitions of its staff and the internal opportunities that open up at a high-growth company. Over the last three years, many successful agents have moved into team management, client-facing, QA and other leadership roles. You can learn more about us Influx.com.

Duties

- Diagnose and solve problems encountered by other web developers
- Communicate effectively via email,chat and phone
- Communicate effectively with customers, peers, and your manager
- Contribute to a high-performance and friendly workplace culture

Skills

- Solid and practical understanding of web development
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Strong problem-solving skills Sense of humour

Benefits

- Work from home (primarily)
- Work with clients in the USA, EU and elsewhere
- Learn from (and contribute to) a high-performance team

Please apply through this link

Web Developer